About Me

I excel in creating scalable applications using cutting-edge technologies. My expertise lies in Next.js, React, Redux, and the MERN stack, allowing me to build robust and efficient web solutions. Additionally, I am well-versed in integrating Sanity CMS and leveraging Context API to ensure seamless user experiences and also competitive programming which helps me write efficient code. I am driven to deliver top-notch results and continuously seek to push the boundaries of web development.

Personal Projects

- Flashbackr: A full-stack social media app built with MERN stack, Redux, and pagination. It allows users to create, edit, delete, and like posts with images and tags.
- Promptly: A full-stack journaling app built with NextJs. It helps users to write AI prompts and share with others.
- Urban Junction: A full-stack e-commerce website built with Next.js, Context API, Sanity, and Stripe. It sells urban clothing and accessories with authentication, cart, checkout, and payment integration features.
- Elevate AI: A UI/UX design project built with Next.js. It showcases a landing page for a fictional company that provides AI solutions for businesses.
